

'Innocent,' Says Mrs. Giberson in First Interview

Woman Accused of Killing Husband Warned by Attorney Not to Answer Questions About Chloroform

Bootleg Talk Persists

Identity of One Man Present at Murder Said to Have Been Established

Special Dispatch to The Tribune
TOMS RIVER, N. J., Aug. 19.—In the first statement she has made for publication since her arrest Mrs. Ivy Giberson today in her cell at Toms River, N. J., affirmed her innocence of all complicity in the death of her husband who was mysteriously shot while asleep at their home in Lakehurst last Monday. "I did not kill my husband," Mrs. Giberson said to reporters who were permitted for the first time since her arrest to interview her. "I stand in the presence of my God innocent and unafraid. This is the secret of the calmness that the officials have been worrying about."

Asked if she would demand a mixed jury of men and women, Mrs. Giberson said again, "I am innocent," and added, "It makes no difference to me who is on the jury."

At the interview were Prosecutor Jayne and Mrs. Giberson's attorney, W. Howard Jeffrey. The latter refused to permit his client to answer questions regarding the three chloroform bottles found in the Giberson home and the presence of her son's suitcase at the house on the morning following the shooting. She said that she had been in New York two weeks before her husband was shot and that she had never received any affectionate letters from any men.

"Mr. Jayne is privileged to publish any letters he may have," she added. She said also that she knew nothing about any quarrel on the morning of the murder between her husband and two men. It has been alleged that such a quarrel did take place. Her relations with her husband she described as "very friendly," and added that he was also on friendly terms with her son by a former husband, despite reports to the contrary.

Questioned as to her alleged friendship with Harold A. Ga Nun, she said that she had not seen Ga Nun for two weeks. She refused to answer a question as to the truth of the report that Mrs. Ga Nun had personally appealed to her to avoid communication with Ga Nun.

County Prosecutor Jayne intimated today that he could establish the identity of at least one man who was present when Giberson was shot, probably that of the man who did the actual shooting. The rumor still persists that behind the whole affair is a record of illicit liquor operations in which the prosecutor believes Giberson was in some way concerned.

Cooked Fish Cast Up By Gas Held Inedible

NAPLES, Aug. 19 (By The Associated Press).—Thousands of dead eels, gray mullets, sea bass and other fish have come to the surface the last few days on Lake Lucrin, near the north shore of the Gulf of Naples, from which it is separated only by a narrow sandspit. Fishermen in the vicinity were delighted, especially as the fish appeared to be already cooked, but their pleasure was shortlived, for the authorities prohibited collection of the fish, fearing that they had been poisoned by an eruption of gases.

Lucrin is a small lake well known in the time of Cicero and Horace, who extolled its oysters and mussels.

New York Men for Army
WASHINGTON, Aug. 19.—Three New York men were designated today by the War Department to take the entrance examinations next March for admission to the West Point Military Academy, in July, 1923. They are Lansdell E. Christie, 598 Fourth Avenue, Brooklyn; Thomas F. McCarthy, 220 East 201st Street, and Garrison H. Davidson, 253 East Kingsbridge Road.

Alfonso's Shrimp and Sherry Breakfast Shocks Epicures

Special Cable to The Tribune

DEAUVILLE, Aug. 19.—The unpopular pastime of trying to keep tabs on King Alfonso of Spain is again occupying the attention of the Deauville police practically to the exclusion of all other activities, for want of the time to attend to them.

The volatile monarch tours the district around Deauville extensively day after day in a speed car which he drives himself. He refuses to permit any interference with his plans and goes about unguarded except for such protectors as may contrive to watch him without making their presence discernible to his keen vision.

As an alternative to his automobile dashes into the country the Spanish King enjoys a daily gallop around the local bridle paths, his companions on these expeditions being Lord and Lady Wodehouse, of whose company he is apparently fond. He pays also a daily visit to the fashionable Pontiers Cafe, where two tables are reserved every morning for the royal party. He eats shrimps and drinks sherry in vast quantities. This combination establishes a devastating precedent among the local epicures, who, appreciating the recherche qualities of shrimps and sherry as an afternoon meal, regarded them as an impossible achievement prior to the lunch hour, until the Spanish King took it into his head to prove them in error. He seems to enjoy the mixture, not only for its own sake, but as well for the polite sensation which his order invariably creates.

The only competitor in public interest which the Spanish King has is the weather, which has been continuously overcast and dreary. From this condition arises a new complication, consideration of which has practically exhausted the intellects of the Deauville bathing beauties. Lacking the sun, where is the sunburn to come from?

The question has been answered in some degree by local chemists, who are selling with great profit various henna preparations guaranteed to produce that outdoor complexion. But out of this there grows yet another problem. May one dye only the face or should the entire body be hennaed to match?

It has remained for an American girl visitor to settle the question in favor of the whole-hoggers. This lady appeared on the beach in the scantiest of the scanty bathing suits decreed by modern Deauville styles. As much of her body as was visible, which was considerable, was dyed a rich golden brown.

Landlady Held Without Bail; Accused of Killing Tenant

Mrs. Agnes Painco, charged with killing Louis Ainley, wireless operator, was held without bail for examination on Wednesday by Magistrate O'Neill in the Coney Island Court yesterday. Ainley and his wife were tenants in the Painco home at 2614 Vorhees Avenue, Sheepshand Bay. He was shot Friday night, following an altercation with Mrs. Painco. Recently Ainley successfully resisted in the courts an attempt on the part of the landlady to increase his rent.

Polo Team Here From Argentine For Cup Handicap

Arrive From England After Winning Thirteen Games Abroad; Expect Better Playing Conditions in U. S.

The invincible Argentine polo team, which is soon to demonstrate its skill in this country, arrived here yesterday from Southampton on the Lamport & Holt liner Vauban, which crossed the Atlantic on a special trip for the Royal Mail Line.

The Argentinians, who played and won thirteen games and captured two trophies, suggested little of the big South American republic they represented abroad. All of them speak English by choice and with it goes a noticeable British accent which, augmented by their English mannerisms and mode of dress, caused some of the photographers who went to the ship to meet them to ask:

"Where are the Argentine players?" Captain Lewis Lacey, who heads the team, is Canadian by birth and was taken to Buenos Ayres by his parents thirty-three years ago, when he was two years old. He is engaged in business in the Argentine capital and his associates are all sons of wealthy ranchers.

"We expect a strenuous tussle over here," he said. "At least more strenuous than we had in England. The British are splendid players, but they take the game more slowly than I fancy you do over here and are accustomed to playing it on damp ground. Over here I understand you play faster and that the contests are on hard ground. These are conditions under which we are accustomed to playing, and I think we will like it better."

"We have come here on the invitation of the Rumson Country Club Polo Association and will enter the competition for the H. L. Herbert Memorial Cup handicap. We took nine players and fifty-seven ponies to England, but four of our men have returned to Buenos Ayres. Twenty-five of our mounts have arrived here and we will work them out on Monday. The others we sold abroad."

The players accompanying Captain Lacey are J. B. Miles, D. B. Miles, J. D. Nelson and Louis Nelson.

Alleged Pay-Roll Thief Held

Three Now Await Trial for Phalanx Silk Mills Robbery

Charged with being the third man wanted for holding up the paymaster of the Phalanx Silk Mills, William Brandt, thirty-one years old, of 405 Murphy Place, West New York, was held without bail in the First Criminal Court in Jersey City yesterday. Eugene Clifton, of West Hoboken, and Albert Lobiano, already are under arrest.

Two men on the sidewalk and a third on a motorcycle with sidecar held up Charles Fattot, the paymaster, and Adolph Eckers, superintendent of the factory, as they were returning to the Phalanx plant with the pay roll money. The three arrested have been identified to the hold-up men.
